Graduate Student Professional Development Opportunities Around Campus

Faculty Job Search: Teaching, Diversity, & Service Statements

Date: Wednesday, September 9th

Time: 4-5:00 pm

Location: Via Zoom

Going on the academic job market? You'll likely need a teaching statement, and you may also need a diversity statement and/or service statement. In this informative workshop, you will learn what goes in each of these documents, how they should be formatted, and how to use them effectively in your job search.

We will discuss the new and evolving requirements for the "service statement" (which can also be known by other names), as well as how best to approach more traditional statements on teaching and diversity.

Faculty Job Search: Interviews

Date: Wednesday, September 16th

Time: 4-5:00 pm

Location: Via Zoom

What is a faculty interview actually like? What sorts of questions will I be asked? How should I talk about my research and teaching? What do I do if there are technical problems? Get answers to these questions and more as you learn the basics of the first-round faculty interviews.

Strategic Storytelling: Interviewing

Date: Tuesday, September 22nd

Time: 4-5:00 pm

Location: Via Zoom

An effective interview should demonstrate why you're a good fit for a role and leave the interviewers excited about the prospect of working with you. But actually, achieving this goal can be a challenge. In this workshop, we'll discuss strategies for preparing yourself for job interviews, and techniques for answering different types of questions by telling your professional story in compelling ways.
