End of Year Newsletter

May 2026

Dear CSGGE Community,

I hope your spring semester is wrapping up nicely! It was wonderful to see many of you at the Spring Reception as we celebrated our shared work and achievements. As the academic year comes to a close, I am filled with gratitude and pride for all we have accomplished together, from impactful events and global collaborations to the many achievements of our faculty affiliates, staff, and students. None of this would be possible without your dedication and support.

This year marks the 46th anniversary of our Center, a milestone that reflects both our history and our continued commitment to advancing scholarship, education, and service in women, gender, and international development. As highlighted in this newsletter, we have built on this legacy this past year through innovative programming, dedicated student support, and engaged partnerships that have created important spaces for dialogue, reflection, and connection across disciplines and perspectives. These initiatives, made possible through strong collaboration across units and communities, underscore the power of collective work, especially in times of uncertainty and constraint. I am deeply grateful for the energy, insight, and commitment you bring, which continue to inspire our shared efforts to advance global gender equity and social justice.

Wishing you all a restful and fulfilling summer! I look forward to continuing our work together in the coming year.

Min Zhan Director, CSGGE

2026 International Women's Day Celebration

On March 4, 2026, the Center for the Study of Global Gender Equity (CSGGE) and the Humanities Research Institute hosted the annual International Women's Day event, "12 Women Who Changed the World: Untold Stories," at the Levis Faculty Center. Over 100 people gathered to highlight the impactful contributions of women who have shaped intellectual, cultural, and public life across disciplines and regions. This event encouraged reflection on the importance of recognizing women's achievements and their lasting influence on global knowledge and society.

We thank all of the campus and community members that joined the annual celebration. It is one of our favorite events of the year to come together and celebrate the histories and contributions of so many wonderful women.

Fall 2025 and Spring 2026 Reception

On behalf of The Center for the Study of Global Gender Equity (CSGGE), we want to thank everyone who joined us for our Fall 2025 and Spring 2026 Reception! It was wonderful to see so many of you, to share such engaging conversations, and honor those who have continued to sustain and uplift the CSGGE community!

The Fall Reception marked the beginning of the academic year by bringing together students, faculty, visiting scholars, and community partners engaged in global and transnational research. It offered a welcoming space to reconnect, build new connections, and reflect on CSGGE's mission, core values, and goals for the year ahead.

The Spring Reception similarly serves as a moment of reflection, honoring our GRID Graduates and CSGGE Award Recipients as we bring the academic year to a close!

We are truly grateful for your continued support of our Center, and we look forward to more connections and collaborations in the coming CSGGE receptions!

CSGGE Co-sponsored Events

This year, the Center for the Study of Global Gender Equity (CSGGE) co-sponsored a variety of events across campus, bringing together students, faculty, and administrators. We are grateful to each host for their collaboration and commitment to bringing community members together!

Thank you to everyone who made these events possible, and we look forward to continuing our collaboration in the years ahead!

CSGGE is proud to support the year-long talk series by the University YMCA and the University of Illinois Archives

The University YMCA and Diversity & Social Justice Education hosted the Fall 2025 and Spring 2026 Friday Forum + Conversation Café series.

Here, students, faculty, and community members have heard from local and national speakers as they engage in pressing public issues. This series has created meaningful space for dialogue, reflection, and connection.

Student Hosted Events

We are honored that several of our graduate student events this year have been led by students. Special thanks to the following students for giving their time and talent for these successful events.

Kshitij Tewari, Biweekly Graduate Student Writing Group (Fall 2025 and Spring 2026)

Joanna Adewumni, Biweekly Graduate Student Spring Book Club (Spring 2026)

Marina Moscoso, Marwah Malik, and Daniela Morales, Virtual Book Discussion on "The Feminist Killjoy Handbook: The Radical Potential of Getting in the Way" by Sara Ahmed

CSGGE Call for Presentations for Lunch Talk Series

The Center for the Study of Global Gender Equity invites faculty, staff, and students to present in our new lunch series held on Thursdays at noon for the upcoming academic year with the theme of "Gender Equity in Inequitable Era".

Gender Equity in Inequitable Era programming series explores how persistent and emerging inequalities in a global context shape the pursuit of gender justice by bringing together theoretical inquiry, research, and practice through interdisciplinary dialogue. It connects scholarship with policy, education, and community engagement, and addresses pressing issues such as reproductive justice, labor, and knowledge production.

For full consideration, please submit application at <https://forms.illinois.edu/chooseAuth/2080725505> by June 15, 2026.
